Marvin M. Bass--Truly a Man of All Seasons!

Family – NCCU Alumni Association – Community – Business

"I stayed in North Carolina after graduation and made Durham my home. I wanted to be a positive force in my community while also supporting my beloved NCCU. I set my sights on creating an environment where students and alumni could come to purchase items that would represent North Carolina Central University. That was 27 years ago, and today Eagleland is still prospering and thriving in the Durham community."
